

Hounds Capture Mason-Dixon Tournament

Father Louis McKay Dies After Prolonged Illness

Rev. Louis E. McKay, S. J.

Marriage Topic Of CYO Forum

A series of forums on Marriage will be inaugurated by the Catholic Youth Organization on April 6. The forums, eight in number, will be held on the Tuesdays of April and May. The talks are to be given at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Harry Shock, of Loyola College, has been named Publicity Chairman. He will be assisted by Winston Kourey, Maurice O'Connell, John Evelius, Maurice Mackey and Alan Harris.

The Moral Attitude on Marriage was the topic of the Rev. Paul Palmer, S. J., a member of the faculties of Loyola and Woodstock Colleges, when he spoke at the Cana Conference at St. Ignatius' on March 8.

The meetings of this Conference are held every Tuesday at St. Ignatius'. On March 1, Dr. William H. McHugh of Loyola College addressed the meeting.

Novena Of Grace Services End Today

The Novena of Grace will be brought to a close today with services after Confessions and at 4:00 p. m. this afternoon.

Novena Prayers have been said after the 7:00 a. m. and 8:00 a. m. Masses for the past eight days. The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., the Rev. Thomas J. Higgins, S. J., and the Rev. James A. Walsh, S. J., have been conducting the services for the students in the Chapel at 4 p. m. every afternoon. Novena prayers have also been recited by the different Fathers daily who have been scheduled for confession at 12:30.

The Rev. John G. Fay, S. J., has been conducting services in the evenings at 7:45 p. m.

Correction

In the February 28 issue of THE GREYHOUND, it was erroneously stated that the Alumni Banquet would be held at the Lord Baltimore Hotel instead of the Emerson Hotel.

THE GREYHOUND regrets the error.

The Rev. Louis E. McKay, S. J., professor of humanities at Loyola, died on the morning of March 1 in Mercy Hospital after a lengthy sickness. A member of the Faculty of Loyola College for three years, Father McKay had also served as Treasurer and Dean of Men.

Father McKay's body rested in the Faculty Residence at Evergreen on Tuesday, March 2, until the following morning when the Requiem Mass was celebrated at St. Ignatius' Church at 10:00 a. m.

Ordained In 1922

Father McKay, who would have been fifty-nine years old on March 19, was ordained a priest at Georgetown University in 1922. A native of Philadelphia, he attended St. Joseph's College there and entered the Society of Jesus at St. Andrew-on-Hudson, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on August 13, 1910.

Following his ordination, Father McKay served as a professor of Classics at Regis High School, N. Y.; Xavier High School, N. Y.; St. Joseph's College, Phila., Pa.; Gonzaga High School, Washington, D. C.; and Loyola College, Baltimore, Md.

Entered Hospital

Father McKay entered Mercy Hospital last October 29 where an advanced ailment was discovered by the physicians. Two days before Christmas, an operation disclosed that his condition was too far advanced to be checked or corrected.

His condition steadily grew worse and finally on February 28, he fell into his last agony. In the last days of his illness, he was attended night and day by the priests of the Loyola faculty.

Father McKay's death was attributed to cancer. He is survived by three brothers, John McKay and Joseph McKay, of Phila., and James McKay, of N. Y.

Following the Mass of Requiem, the procession left St. Ignatius' Church and proceeded to Woodstock College, Woodstock, Md., where the interment took place.

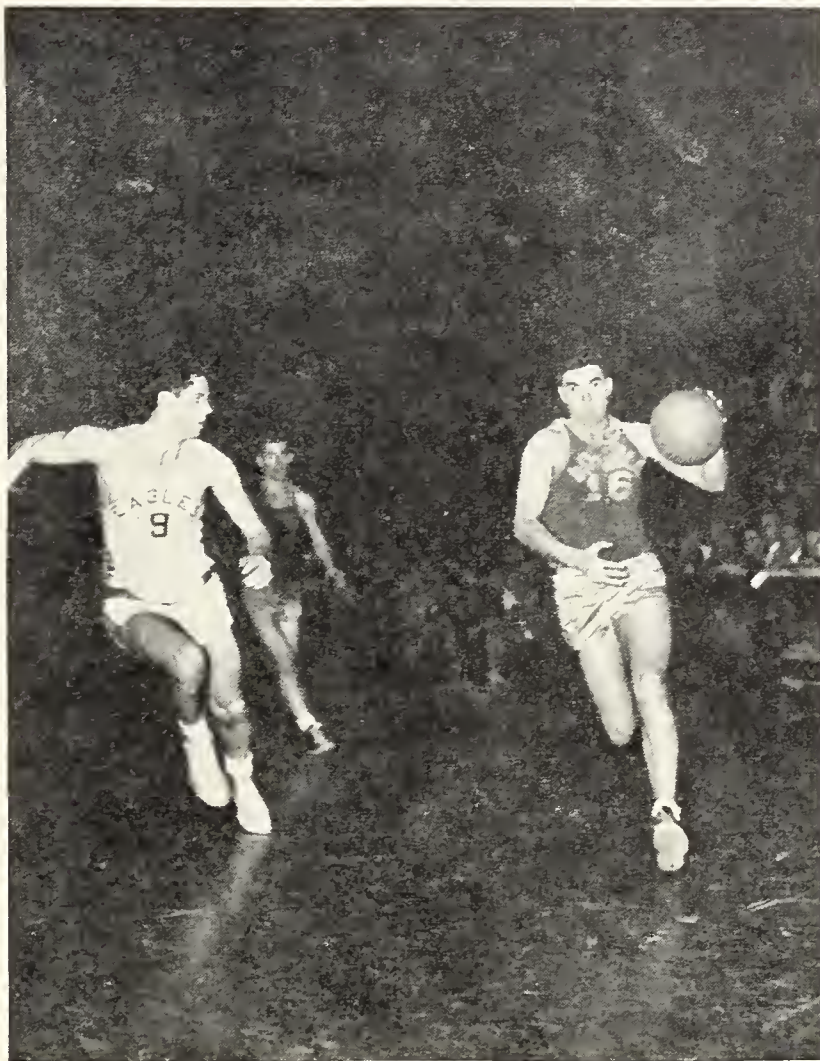

Debaters Meet American U.; Beat St. Joseph's, Philadelphia

Continuing its season of forty debates, the Robert Bellarmine Debating Society will meet a team from American University at 7:00 p. m. this evening in the library at Evergreen. Loyola, represented by Dudley M. Shoemaker and Francis X. Gallagher, will uphold the affirmative case of the National Debate Question.

Tomorrow, Loyola will meet Howard University in Washington and next Friday Morgan College here.

Win Over St. Joseph's

On Tuesday evening, Loyola won a decision over St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia, represented by Joseph Frank and John Courtvalle.

A.S.N. Plans Frosh Award

A special award will be made to the outstanding freshman of the year by the Alpha Sigma Nu, it was announced last week by the president, J. Allan Panuska. The award will be based on contributions of the student to the College.

Dudley M. Shoemaker and Richard A. Hartman have been named by the A. S. N. to prepare for the inauguration of the Creative Writing Seminar which that group is sponsoring.

The Constitution for that organization is being drafted and will be completed by April 1.

"Everyman" On Video

Everyman, the famous Morality Play of the Middle Ages, will be presented by the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society of Loyola College in the Evergreen Gymnasium on Passion Sunday, March 14, at 8:00 p. m.

The play will subsequently be staged at the Baltimore Museum of Art Auditorium on Palm Sunday, March 21, at 9:00 p. m., and this presentation will be televised by Station WMAR. During the week between Passion Sunday and Palm Sunday, Everyman will play at various parishes in Baltimore.

Presented Last Year

Everyman was presented last year on Passion Sunday and was attended by a capacity crowd. With few exceptions, those students who took part in the play last year will assume the same roles in this year's performance. William Heffner will again play the leading role of Everyman.

Because of last year's large audience and an anticipated larger one this year, the Mask and Rapier Society decided to present the March 14 performance in the Gym instead of in the Library Auditorium.

Custer Directing

Robert S. Custer has been named Student Director of Everyman by Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., moderator of the Dramatic Society. Edward O. Clarke heads the Business Committee.

Rehearsals have been in progress for the past four weeks. The cast met twice weekly until this week, during which it has met five times.

Take Final Game From Eagles By 49-43 Score

Loyola defeats Mt. St. Mary's and Hopkins in quarter-final and semi-final rounds Page 5

Grabbing the lead five seconds after the starting whistle and never relinquishing it, Loyola's Greyhounds defeated American University, 49-43, last Saturday night at Evergreen in the final game of the three-day Mason-Dixon Conference basketball tournament.

Loyola thereby won the tourney title to go along with the M-D regular league championship. It was the second straight year in which the Hounds captured both crowns.

Andy O'Donnell started the basket-making for the home forces with a short push shot after Tom Gisriel won the opening tap-off. From this point, Lefty Reitz's club held the upper hand, controlling a lead which zoomed to 17 points in the first half but fell to 3 late in the game.

Lacy Scores 21

Jim Lacy supplied 21 Loyola points to emerge high scorer for the night. Lacy relied chiefly on set shots and layups to score seven field goals, and added seven tosses from the foul line.

The entire team flashed its best form of the season in the first half, completely outplaying the baffled Eagles offensively and defensively. A. U. was able to score only four field goals in the first half, obviously having an off night at the cords.

Loyola was in complete control in the early minutes, holding a 7-1 lead before Fred Fling inserted the losers' first two-pointer of the game at the five minute mark. The

Fr. Parson Delivers Lecture on France

The second in a series of three lectures will be delivered by the Rev. J. Wilfred Parsons, S. J., on Sunday, March 14, at 4:00 p. m. The title of the lecture is "France, will it join Western Europe or the Communistic Bloc?"

The final lecture of the Evening School series, entitled "The Marshall Plan, will it work?", will be delivered on March 21.

Father Parsons is a member of the faculty at the Catholic University of America, where he is chairman of the Department of Political Economy and Master of Carroll House, the Jesuit house of studies at Catholic University.

Meet The Faculty:

Intramural Sports Program Reactivated By Mueller

"Meet the Faculty" introduces this week the man who is responsible for the greatly enlarged and extremely active intramural sports program at Loyola this year. He is Mr. Francis J. Mueller—Loyola alumnus, math teacher and director of the intramural athletics program.

Franny, as he is better known on campus, came to Loyola from City College. As a student he played basketball and baseball, was president of the Math Club, worked on THE GREYHOUND, was a member of the Student Council, and founded the Block L Club. He was graduated Magna Cum Laude in 1943.

After playing professional baseball, Mr. Mueller joined the Navy and was sent to Notre Dame under the V-7 training program. He was commissioned in the Fall of 1943 and saw active service in the Mediterranean area and the invasion of France.

Upon his return to civilian life Franny enrolled at Johns Hopkins University for graduate work in mathematics and also worked in the Veterans Administration office at Evergreen. He began to teach math last Fall.

As head of the intramural set-up, Franny has conducted tournaments in horseshoe pitching, bowling, and ping-pong, run football and basketball leagues, and also found time enough to begin an alumni bowling league and coach the varsity swimming team.

Phones Reserviced In Both Buildings

Telephone services has returned to Loyola after an absence of nearly two months. The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. re-serviced the phones this week.

The phones were out of service because of television broadcasts of the basketball games.

This is Jack Murphy whose sparkling play has consistently torn loopholes in the opposition's defense. John is now in the Mercy Hospital recuperating from a back injury. The King's College "Crown."

Who tore the loopholes in whom?

With a combination of the violence of the British penal system of the 19th century, blended with a generous dose of the musty fragrance of old England, the tale of a peasant-born boy suddenly thrust into English society through a forgotten kindness done to an escaped convict from the hell-hole of an English prison ship, evolves through two hours of appealing drama to a savage yet strangely heart warming end. The College of Idaho "College Coyote."

"Confusedly heart warming" would be more like it.

Over ninety women living in Old East had their first surprise fire drill Wednesday night at eleven o'clock. With overcoats hastily thrown over whatever women wear at eleven o'clock, the coeds filed in orderly fashion down the fire escapes and through the doors. The Dickinson College "Dickinsonian."

Alumni Banquet

Please check your calendar and be sure that you have this important date marked: Tuesday, March 30, 1948, 6:30 p.m., Emerson Hotel, Alumni Banquet, Hon. James A. Farley, Guest Speaker. If you have not made your reservation be sure to do so today. Mail your check for $5.00 and your name and class to Alumni Office, 4501 N. Charles St., Baltimore-10, Maryland. In making reservations for your friends and guests, mail check and note name of friend or guest and class with which he is to be seated. All reservations must be made and paid for by March 23.

Plans are being completed for the special tribute to Loyola Lawyers at the Banquet on the 30th. Arrangements are in care of Francis B. Burch. Special tables are being reserved for the lawyer group.

Advance reservations indicate that the tribute to the lawyers and the prominence of the nationally known speaker, Hon. James A. Farley, former Postmaster General, will bring together the largest gathering of Loyola Alumni and friends ever to attend an Annual Alumni Banquet. Be sure to be there. Make your reservation today!

Alumnus In Library Work

Robert E. Maizell, '45, writes from New York to inform us of his activities since graduation from Loyola. Bob graduated from Columbia University's School of Library Service in June 1947 and is at present a Reference Librarian with the Science and Technology Division of the New York Public Library.

Alumnus To Study In South America

Howard J. Strott, '45, has recently left for Santiago, Chile, where he plans to study the travel in completing his work on Latin American History. Bud holds a M.A. in History from St. Louis University and has worked with the Maryland Historical Society since his return from St. Louis.

Executive Committee Meeting

The Meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association was called for this evening, March 12, at 8:15 p.m. in the Faculty House at Evergreen. On the agenda were—the Banquet, Communion Mass and Breakfast and Annual Alumni Dance.

Donllo Trio Obtains Audition For Horace Heidt Talent Show

Hollywood has Frank Sinatra and the Page-Cavanaugh trio; Baltimore has Dick Coleman and the Donllo trio. What? You mean you haven't heard about this group? Well, read on, friend, read on!

Richard "Small Change" Coleman is already familiar to many students at Evergreen as a freshman and for his excellent dramatic work in SOUND OF HUNTING. The lad is also an excellent song stylist, a baritone whose vocal qualities put him way above similar local talent.

Probably less known is the instrumental group known as the Donllo Trio, comprising electric guitar, piano and string bass. The "Don" of the trio, their guitarist-arranger, is Don Swartz, also a freshman and co-author of the forthcoming student musical production, MARELYN! Don has been strumming a guitar for eleven years and is plenty good. He's also a mean man on a piano, but won't admit it.

The trio was formed a year ago by Don and Bob "Pinky" Lloyd, the "llo" in "Donollo." Bob, the pianist of the trio, teaches biology at Hamilton Junior High (biology students please note: this necessary evil does not harm the high calibre of his piano interpretations). The third member of the group is Charlie Brassey, a former bass man with Johnny Bothwell.

Publicity agent Danny Shehan, another Loyola freshman, has announced that the trio will audition for the Horace Heidt Talent Show. With the "Theme Without a Name," written by Swartz, introducing them, the Donllo Trio is destined for big things.

News In Brief

The Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S.J., and the Rev. William V. Herlihy, S.J., are conducting Novena of Grace Services at St. Anthony's Church and at St. Catherine's Church in Baltimore.

The Yearbook Staff is still accepting patrons for the Yearbook, according to an announcement made by J. Allan Panuska, Yearbook Editor.

Charles Wittstadt, president of the Freshman Class, has withdrawn from Loyola. Edward O. Clarke, vice-president, succeeds him as president.

Edward J. McNeal and Francis X. Gallagher were elected to the Board of Directors of the reorganized Loyola High School Alumni Association at a meeting on March 1st.

Representative Hugh A. Meade, '29, appeared on the Town Hall of the Air speaking against the proposed St. Lawrence Waterway.

Thomas Comber was elected Treasurer of the newly organized Baltimore Chess League. Loyola's first match will take place tonight.

Dr. Henry F. Zangara, '39, lectured on French Customs before a class on "Civilization" at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida.

The Evening School has "adopted" the Rev. Edward Dineen, S.J., who is serving in the Jesuit Mission of Jamshedpur, India. All returns from the Lenten mite boxes will be sent to him.

NSA Severs IUS Relations

Loyola was notified by the National Students Association that all relations with the International Students Union have been severed. This action was taken after the IUS refused to protest the treatment received by the students of Czechoslovakia last week.

Students in Prague marching to protest the proposed action of the Polish Government to surrender power to the leftists were fired upon and one student was killed.

The refusal of the IUS to protest bore out suspicions that the organization is controlled by strong Communist adherents, if not by actual Communists themselves.

The NSA had planned to meet with the IUS this summer, but has announced that all plans have been abandoned. Two NSA representatives in Europe resigned their positions as delegates to the IUS after the Polish incident.

See Tom Zeller!

Tom Zeller Unperturbed By Sudden Rise To Fame

by Tom Padden

Since early in September Loyola's bulletin boards have been plagued by requests for students to "See Tom Zeller." This advice has been affixed to nearly every notice posted. Without knowing what to expect, we determined to see Tom Zeller and discover the secret of his universal knowledge.

An interview with the now famous Tom revealed the following facts. In general he thinks the entire scheme is a big joke. At first he was stunned when students began asking him all sorts of questions about every conceivable activity on the campus. The first he knew of the whole affair was when someone came up and asked him for information about the newly formed Married Men's Club. Tom assured him he wasn't married and walked off, leaving the fellow wondering how he happened to be president of the Married Men's Club without being married.

Minister Of Information

The whole thing grew out of a bull session with Jim Edelen. They were talking about the mysterious Kilroy they had run into while in the service. Edelen decided that Loyola should have its Minister of Information also, and thereupon elected Mr. Zeller.

Jim very modestly takes credit for the whole affair. Edelen says, "I guess you could say I started the thing on a large scale. I didn't do it out of any malice, just as a joke." One of Mr. Edelen's helpers, who prefers to remain anonymous, said of Tom Zeller, "If you know him, he's a natural for it. If you tell him it's raining outside he wants to report it to the U. N. O."

N. D. M. Concurs

Tom's fame has spread even beyond Loyola. In the Fourier Library at Notre Dame of Maryland the following sign recently appeared, "If you want to have a good time, See Tom Zeller, Loyola College." This evidently is the work of one of Tom's recent dates.

That's all we could find out. For further information "See Tom Zeller."

Bridgemen Bow To Notre Dame

Notre Dame's bridge team scored a decisive triumph over Loyola two weeks ago in a return match played at Evergreen. The Charles Street neighbors continued their winning ways, having beaten the Loyolans last November in the first contest of the 1947-48 season, and so, remain the mythical "champs" of the Maryland colleges.

The only winning partners for Loyola were James Bowen and Robert Custer, and the final score gave Notre Dame a 4430 point victory.

Loyola's Bridge Club is conducting a duplicate tournament. Each set of partners play a "round-robin" of twenty duplicate hands.

NFCCS Congress Listed For April

The National Federation of Catholic College Students, Baltimore-Washington Region, will hold a Congress at Mt. St. Agnes College on April 17.

All students of member schools are invited to hear the morning lecture on "The Student's Responsibility Concerning the Inter-Racial Question" and to attend afternoon panel discussions.

This speech topic was chosen by the NFCCS officers because of the current reversal in educational circles regarding the admittance of Negroes to formerly "restricted" colleges. It was thought that the subsequent discussion period would bring many interesting questions.

The National Congress of the NFCCS will be held at the Penn Sheraton Hotel in Philadelphia from April 22 to 25. One of the leading topics will be the racial problem.

Evening School Plans Day Of Recollection On Sunday

Evening School Students and Faculty Members will make a Day of Recollection on Sunday, March 14th at Evergreen. The Rev. Lee Bradley, S. J., will conduct the services.

The Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., Dean of the Evening School, has appointed a Faculty Committee and a Student Committee to handle the preparations and assist at the Day of Recollection.

The Faculty Committee is headed by Thomas J. Grogan who will be assisted by Francis P. Fairbank and Francis J. Mueller.

The members of the Student Committee are Edward Macatee, chairman, Neil Cole, John Connor, Miss Patricia Kilmartin, John W. Langdon, William Pascoe, Jack Richards, Henry Sullivan and Francis Valle.

The day will begin at Loyola at 11:00 a. m. when the group gathers for Meditation, followed by Reflection. The recitation of Rosary and the Way of the Cross will take place at 12:30 p. m.

Following the lunch period which will end at 2:00 p. m., the group will again gather for Meditation, followed by Reflection. At 3:30 p. m. the Day of Recollection will be brought to a close with a Sermon and Benediction.

I. R. C. Selects Delegates To Cornell; Physics Club Sees "F.M." Films; Plan Music Club Here

by William J. Dempsey

Math Club:

James O'Neill, president, announced that a series of talks will be given at each meeting by members who are majoring in mathematics. The first of these talks on "De Moivre's Theorem," was presented by James O'Neill.

William S. O'Hare also gave a talk on the topic of his senior thesis, "The Complex Number Theory in Electrical Engineering."

These talks have been received with such interest that at future meetings other senior members will discuss the topic of their theses, also.

I. R. C.

Mr. Kirwin, moderator of the International Relations Club, has selected Sidney Shapero, Raymond Lelli, Andrew Montgomery, and Martin Klein to represent the club at a Model United Nations Assembly, to be held at Cornell University on April 1, 2, and 3.

They will represent the views and interests of the Republic of Turkey.

Physics Club:

Several films on "Frequency Modulation" were shown at the last meeting of the Angelo Secchi Academy of Physics. These films were procured through the Army by William Healy.

Invitations to attend were extended to all students of the college, and those attending found the meeting interesting and entertaining.

James F. O'Neill, president of the Physics Academy stated that brief papers were to be presented at future meetings by the Physics majors on the topic of their senior theses.

Married Men's Club:

A meeting of the married men was held this morning at 11 o'clock discussing future plans to increase interest. James Bailey, president, stated that the Married Men's Club firmly indorses all movements of the Family Life Conference, currently conducted by the St. Ignatius Guild.

Music Club:

Loyola is forming its first Collegiate Orchestra and it needs you! Mr. Iula has thousands of dollars worth of music which he will put into service if enough applicants enroll for this extra-curricular activity. Other colleges throughout Maryland have good orchestras and bands. Why not Loyola?

Evergreen Scenes

by Frank Gallagher

Act I

While dining in a Philadelphia restaurant last week, the members of the debating team had the most happy fortune to engage in conversation with a waiter of rare social gifts.

Evidently a man of many experiences, he reversed the accepted order by giving his customers tips, not monetary but informative.

To make an impression on the young ladies with whom you are dining, young men should, said the waiter, observe the following tenets:

1. Never drink the water which is placed in front of you on the table when you arrive. People who eat regularly at the Waldorf Astoria never, never drink the water.
2. Look at the menu and decide immediately what you would like to have. A man who has experience dining out never ponders over the menu. Indecision shows a weak mind.
3. Ask for the check and not for the "bad news." If there is one thing which reveals non-class, it is a derogatory reference to the check.
4. If you should discover an error in addition on your check, do not blast bugles, send up flares, nor pound on the table with silver candlesticks. Call the waiter and quietly ask him to check the check.
5. If you are dining with a party, grab the check and insist on paying it. Look bighearted and benign. Pay the check and settle with the others when you get outside.

Act II

Taking the advice of the Hungarian born waiter while dining out the other evening, I followed each of his rules and, sad to relate, I had the following things happen to me.

1. I did not drink the water and consequently was thirsty throughout the entire meal.
2. In my haste to order, I didn't get anything I really wanted and I was forced to digest some monstrosity which looked more like a set of Russian billiard balls than a meal.
3. I asked for the "good news" (the check, that is) and the waiter lost no time in giving it to me.
4. I discovered an eight dollar error in the check but everytime I motioned to the waiter to come over to correct it, he waved back, thinking I was waving goodbye.
5. I hastened to grab the check and nobody bothered to stop me. I payed out every cent I had and I have not seen the other members of the party since.

Act III

If there is anything which makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise, it is a straight diet of cheese and crackers . . . cheese and crackers . . . cheese and crackers.

The Critilog

by George Herman

There is a great deal to be said for the "good old days" and for the color, pleasant memories and faded dreams our parents knew in those days. For one thing, if there were no more "good old days," what would our fathers lie so wonderfully about?

However, after a while, even the old comedians performing the same old tricks of the old days get a wee bit tiresome. Al Jolson proved an exception with a picture of his life, and Jimmy Durante came back with a show that closely paralleled his own career; but in If You Knew Susie, the story neither parallels Eddie Cantor's past, nor does it do much for his future.

It is commonly accepted that the actors and actresses referred to as "amateur" are the poorest people in any profession, and the enlightening story by Warren Wilson and Oscar Bradney doesn't add a great deal to the fundamental knowledge. And if you're expecting to see anything entertaining outside of Eddie Cantor doing his usual syncopated steps and clapping his hands to warm up to a trite story, then you'll be disappointed.

Joan Davis turns in an acceptable performance as a comedienne, pretending to be a dumbbell, pretending to be a lady. Occasionally, her natural beauty, which is usually drowned beneath make-up nightmares, comes to the fore, and you sigh wistfully and say, "You were made for better things."

Still, If You Knew Susie has quite agreeable music. You'll like "What Do We Need With Money?" and "My, How the Time Goes By," as well as the old title song miraculously resurrected by the man who gave it birth in the first place.

In short, If You Knew Susie like I know Susie, you'd save your money.

What Don't You Know?

Here's a chance to test your fund of general knowledge. For the first perfect set of answers dropped on the editor's desk (or the most nearly perfect if no one scores 100%) THE GREYHOUND will award five cartons of Chesterfields. Ready, set, go! No staff members are eligible.

1. Red faces were really red last month when the Soviet embassy in Washington praised a Russian composer while the Kremlin was simultaneously chastising him for writing capitalistic music. Who was the composer?

2. Holy Cross won the NCAA basketball tournament in New York last year by defeating what team, 58-47?

3. Think you're hot stuff so far? Then name the only bachelor ever to become President of the United States?

4. Who is the White Pope? The Black Pope? The Red Pope?

5. Robert Browning's wife was pretty hot stuff herself when it came to penning sonnets. What was her name? (And we don't mean "Mrs. Browning").

6. Like the movies? Then name the actor and actress who won "Oscars" last year for best performances.

7. Okay, chemists, it's your turn. Who discovered oxygen?

8. The Americans, much to everyone's surprise, did alright in the Winter Olympics last month. In what three events did they place first?

9. In what "League of Nations" opera do an American naval officer and his Japanese girl friend sing sweet nothings to each other in Italian?

10. Samuel F. B. Morse did a fine job of inventing the telegraph, but he was also proficient in which of the arts?

11. Which of the German pocket battleships was scuttled outside of Montevideo harbor?

12. What famous American painter "got the bird"?

13. Captain Dreyfuss was the central figure in a famous 19th century court trial. What more famous Frenchman defended him?

14. Nelson might have said "England expects every man to do his duty" at Trafalgar, but under what conditions did an American general merely say "Nuts!" as an immortal battlecry?

15. How high is the Washington Monument? (The Washington Washington Monument, that is).

16. Who are the co-authors of that musical extravaganza, "Marelyn"?

17. What composer wrote what opera to celebrate the opening of the Suez Canal?

18. What historical figure occupied his time by liberating South American peasants?

19. What teams won the championships of each of the professional football leagues this year?

20. Who said: "You're a better man than I am, Gunga Din"?

A Soldier Passes

Father McKay is dead, but what is there to say about the dead that has not been said before? What words of praise can be summoned up, what humorous incidents recalled that have not been echoed thousands of times since men began to die.

Those who struggled in his Latin class to master Cicero need no editorial by which to remember him. Those whose sat in his English classes do not need the college newspaper to find things to say about him.

But all of us can take inspiration from the long, bed-ridden months which he endured before death came. Suffering from an incurable disease, he accepted his particular cross bravely and without complaint.

To him, as a prayerful farewell, may we whisper words taken from the Ordinary of the Mass, words Father McKay himself uttered thousands of times in his quarter century as a priest. "Misereatur tui omnipotens Deus . . ."—"May Almighty God have mercy upon you, forgive you your sins, and bring you to life everlasting."

Education For All

The Federal Government, pondering a report by President Truman's Commission on Higher Education, is contemplating an invasion of the field of collegiate education greater than they have ever before attempted. In an effort to provide a college degree for a greater number of young American men and women, they may vote Federal aid totalling nearly two billion dollars to be used in subsidizing higher learning.

A Solution?

In these days of heated controversy, it is reassuring to the squirming spectator of international affairs to take note of such an event as the formation of the Baltimore Chess League.

Although it can not be contended that the new league will reduce the number of vetoes cast in the UN or cool the animosity of self-styled Southern "manhood" against President Truman, still there are several features which reflect real good.

Certainly, Chess is good for the mind. Such mental discipline as Chess demands, such coolness in times of overbearing pressure, such rigorous self discipline are all needs which should be filled as soon as possible in all men.

The Student Chapel will be closed for one day so that the skunk which has taken lodgings beneath it may be removed. The skunk has been under the chapel for the last ten days.

Because of the Novena services, no action could be taken last week. However, since the Novena ends today, College Authorities will close the chapel for the period of twenty-four hours, and the exterminator company will employ powerful gas to "smoke out" the unwelcome visitor.

BOOKS

by John Scrimger

If recently you have been down in a bookstore, to the inexpensive New Directions Shelf, you may have seen a somber blue book on whose back is printed the single word Nightwood. You may have looked twice at the dust jacket and then if you went so far as to open it you were annoyed by the uncut pages. If you were discouraged from reading this book you have missed a rather unusual experience.

The author, Djuna Barnes, is not well known to the public, though she has been steadily writing since 1915; Nightwood itself was published in 1936, though its reception was taken, it might be said, quietly.

The story concerns a group of eccentric people, headed by a wierd Dr. Matthew O'Conner, leading fantastic and tortured lives in Paris. The book makes excellent reading, but the conversations of the various characters appear on first glance to be pointless and irrelevant. This arises from the idiom in which Miss Barnes writes, an idiom which many are unaccustomed to meet in most novel writing. It may be noted (though not originally) that the opening is rather slow until the entrance of the doctor. It is not surprising to see that the introduction is by the most eminent poetic figure of our times, T. S. Eliot.

Nightwood is an excellent psychological study, a study apart from the pseudo-psychology of today. One can imagine it passing from hand to hand in modern, almost deserted "Montmartre" cafes. We give it our rather delayed, though unhesitant and unqualified recommendation.

Running With The Hounds

Cagers, Wrestlers Shine In Tournament Action

By Don Fay, Sports Editor

The line forms on the right for Lefty Reitz's basketball stalwarts and Phil Goodman's scrappy wrestlers to take a bow for their performances in the recent Mason-Dixon cage and grapple tournaments. Both squads had to be at their best for these post-season matches, and it's a credit to the players and coaches that they were. The cagers, under pressure in all three games, and playing in the tougher of the two brackets, proved themselves the best there are in the M-D loop by adding the tourney title to the already won regular league crown. Any team that can come from behind the way the Hounds did three times against Mt. St. Mary's and then go on to knock off Hopkins and the highly-touted A. U. Eagles deserves to be champs.

As for the wrestlers, they were the surprise package of the grunt and groan get-together. Goodman's boys came within a hair of upsetting Hopkins, defending champ of last year and winner of the regular schedule this season. As it was, three of the Greyhound muscle men emerged individual champions in their respective divisions. Steve Krizan (145), Carter Beese (175) and heavyweight Jeep Mueller took these personal honors, while co-captains Mus Bower and Jack Enoch picked up valuable points by reaching the finals before losing close matches.

So, a doff of the chapeau to all for their great work. And let's hope that the swimmers can put in a good showing in tomorrow's water setto.

Hounds Lose

Loyola lost in the opening round of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament last Tuesday night, bowing by a 65-57 score to Emporia (Kansas) State in Kansas City.

Wrestling

Grapplers End In Second Spot

by Alan Harris

Johns Hopkins edged Loyola to win the annual Mason-Dixon Conference wrestling tournament, held at Towson State Teachers' College on Saturday, February 28.

Several upsets marked the tourney, with Loyola doing much of the unexpected. The Hounds registered three wins in the 145 pound, 175 pound and heavyweight classes.

Krizan Wins

Steve Krizan, a newcomer to the mats at Evergreen, scored the first upset by his decision over Doeller of Hopkins in the 145 group, after pinning Jenkins of Towson Teachers in his first match. Having improved throughout the season, Krizan scored his most impressive victory in this tourney.

In the 175 pound division, Carter Beese defeated the highly favored Brown of Hopkins. Beese showed veteran skill, and won his decision, 6-5, to gain the title.

Team Unbeaten In Loop; Record For Bamberger

by Gene Corrigan

Rolling to the end of an undefeated league season, the swimming team looks back on two years of Conference activity marred by but one defeat.

The team enters the Mason-Dixon tournament at American University this week-end rated a slight favorite. They earned this rating by defeating Catholic U., Randolph-Macon, American U., and Johns Hopkins during the Conference season.

Clint Bamberger plucked further laurels from the waters of the tank by setting a new (unofficial) record in the 200 yard Breaststroke. Clint churned in ahead of Witherspoon of Hopkins in 2:47.7. Bill Klarner had previously registered a low 2:33.3 in the Westchester State Teachers' pool, which is an odd sized nineteen feet plus, for a new pool record.

The one other meet won by the natators was over Dickinson, the first of five non-conference contests. La Salle, Scranton, Westchester, and Swarthmore swamped the amphibious Hounds.

Westchester won, 50-25, in their pool on February 14. Loyola took the Breaststroke event (in which Klarner set the new pool mark) and the 100 Free, taking 59 seconds to cover the distance. Two days

Reitzmen Trip American U. To Take Cage Playoff Title

Hounds widened this gap quickly, rushing to a 23-6 lead with seven minutes to go in the half. Lacy and O'Donnell, who wound up second best in point making with ten, picked up several tallies in this stretch. Lacy got seven in a row on two driving layups and three fouls.

Eagles Rally

The Eagles retaliated slightly following this streak as Staff Cassell juggled his lineup. The score at halftime was 29-15.

Four minutes clicked by before a field goal was made in the second half. Pete Negley, Eagle center who was largely responsible for the Eagles' comeback, made two fouls and Mike Zedalis one before Bob Lamont and Jim Lacy exchanged baskets to run the score to 32-19.

O'Donnell and Lacy again came through with important sets shots a few minutes later, but it was American U.'s turn to get hoop-happy. Save for another Lacy set shot, the Washingtonians strung together seven quick baskets for a 39-36 count. That was as close as the losers came.

Loyola Comes Back

Gisriel, Lacy, Zedalis and Bill Johnson pulled Loyola out of danger with fouls, then a lengthy freeze prevented further Eagle scoring. Zedalis dribbled the length of the court and Gisriel hooked in a neat shot for insurance in the closing moments.

Reitz used his starting five, plus Paul Feeley, Bob Barry, Vince Gallagher and Wish Galvin. It was Loyola's twenty-fourth triumph of the season against six defeats.

Loyola Defeats Mt. St. Mary's, 73-69

by Bob Roesner

In what was beyond a doubt the most exciting basketball game in the history of the Mason-Dixon basketball tournament, Loyola's Hounds, led by Jim Lacy, came from behind to pin defeat on the Mountaineers of Mt. St. Mary's, 73-69, in the opening round of the annual fray.

Loyola opened the scoring on a hook shot by Mike Zedalis, only to lose the lead to the scrappy Mt. St. Mary's squad. Loyola was headed until Andy O'Donnell, on a pass from Lacy, made the score 16-15 in favor of the Hounds.

Again the Greyhounds lost the lead until Jim Lacy scored a quick basket, putting Loyola ahead 26-23. Then Pete Clark got a hot hand to put the Mount back in the game. Pete's spectacular fall-away shot ended the half at 32-29 in favor of the Mountaineers.

O'Donnell Scores

O'Donnell clicked for two quick baskets to place Loyola in the lead as the second half began. At this point, Kripatis put the Mounts ahead 34-33. Slowly the Mountaineers widened the gap, and with two minutes of playing time left, and the score 56-50, Lacy dropped a set shot.

O'Donnell connected from the foul line, and as the time fell to twenty seconds, Mike Zedalis came from one end of the floor to the other for a left handed lay-up sending the game into its first overtime at 56-all.

Overtime Again

But this was only the beginning of the tension, as Mt. St. Mary's drove ahead 65-59. At the two minute mark Wish Galvin scored to bring the total to 65-61. Here the

Jays Lose, 73-62 In Semi-Final Tilt

by Charley Kimmel

Strictly according to the script, Loyola's tireless Greyhounds defeated Johns Hopkins last Friday night, 73-62, thereby gaining the finals of the Mason-Dixon basketball playoffs.

Howdy Meyers' hopefuls just couldn't cope with the rapidly moving Reitzmen. Though Hopkins led during the initial ten minutes of the contest, the closest the Blue Jays were able to come in the final quarter was seven points.

Tops in the point parade for the Zedalis and Vince Gallagher were Hounds was Jim Lacy with 15. Mike close behind with 13 apiece, and Tom Gisriel and Bill Johnson each got nine.

Paul Feeley made a foul shot to start the scoring, but Hopkins ran ahead 5-1 in short order, before Zedalis dropped in a Greyhound field goal. A Blue Jay basket followed, but another two-pointer by Zedalis, seconds later, kept the Hounds close behind.

The score was tied 9-all after Lacy and Andy O'Donnell each added a basket on driving layup shots. Both teams battled neck and neck as the count again was knotted at 11-11 and 13-13, but Loyola took the lead at 17-16, as Lacy converted a charity toss and Gisriel tapped in a rebound. From this point the gap was never closed.

Vince Gallagher kept the Greyhounds in front till halftime, throwing in assorted one hand shots and a foul conversion. The halftime score was 36-26.

Throughout the second half, Loyola maintained its lead with little difficulty. But it took the full time efforts of the Green and Grey regulars to offset a possible threat

Hounds Defeat Hopkins And Washington

Lefty Reitz's Greyhound hoopsters ended the regular Mason-Dixon Conference cage schedule by knocking down Johns Hopkins and Washington College. The Green and Gray swamped Hopkins, 77-41, and overthrew the Sho'men by 75-38.

By winning these two contests, both at the home Evergreen court, Loyola terminated conference activity for 1947-48 with a 12-1 record, and wound up the season with a 21-6 log in open competition.

Hopkins, which had pressed the Hounds in a 58-53 game earlier, was no match for the home forces. In running up its highest output for one game, 77 points, Loyola was in command all the way.

In the Washington tilt, the first team saw little action after rushing to a 13-0 lead and a 40-15 bulge at the half. Jim Lacy, playing about 20 minutes, made good on 7 of 11 field goals and 4 for 4 fouls for 18 points.

Basketball Playoffs Scheduled For Today

Final rounds of the Intramural Basketball League playoffs are slated to be completed today. Franny Mueller, director of the inter-class rivalries, hopes to have the winner crowned after today's activities.

As THE GREYHOUND went to press, Sweitzer's Swishers, the Chilton Rompers and the Blanks were still in the running for the championship. The Rompers and Blanks were scheduled to play yesterday, and the winner of this match will be pitted against the Swishers.

These three clubs are the last of the teams which reached the playoffs. Two of the last to fall were the Devereux Decrepits and the Greyhound Clickers.

Sweitzers is led by O'Connor, Lynch, Whittle, Gilbert, Nugent, Stricker, Waldt and Kaufman. Jim O'Connor has been high scorer with a total of 26 points. Incidentally, the Sweitzer clan edged out the Blanks once, 34-33.

Metzbower, Metzger, Ahern, Davis, Ellis, Molz, Hoffman and Maynes perform for the Blanks. Ahern has tallied 30 points in regular league play. The Rompers, essentially the same team which copped intramural grid title, are as yet unbeaten. Frank Scrivener leads his teammates in scoring, in fact the rest of the league, with 55 points. Scrivener's mates include Davis, O'Connor, Rommel, Simms, Laroque, Ostendorf and Sybert.

The Decrepits were eliminated last Tuesday when they were beaten by the Rompers.

Swimmers Eye M-D Tourney

later, Randolph-Macon arrived at Evergreen and were left behind, 53-22.

American U. was beaten by the same score February 26. Finally, the Johns Hopkins swimming club lost to the hosting mermen March 2. Bamberger continued his winning style through these recent meets, with Klarner or Miller close behind. Andy McCormick is still ably supporting Blondell in the 440, and the 400 Relay squad of Oaster, Fisher, Dunn, Gately, or Gehring has performed consistently throughout the season.

Coach Mueller expects to use substantially the same lineup during this week-end's tournament as has performed efficiently all season. Featured at American U. will be an event seen only when tourney time rolls around. The individual medley, in which one performer swims all three strokes of the usual medley, will be entered by Brian Brandon, Andy McCormick, and Joe Hauf. They will meet all comers on an elimination basis.

Beeler, Laroque On Ice All-Stars

Two Loyola students will play for the Baltimore Hockey League All-Star team in its game against Georgetown University tomorrow night at the Sports Centre ice rink.

Mel Beeler and Jerry Laroque, captain of the Sports Centre team and the Bowers Batteries' team, respectively, are the pucksters who are slated to start for the all-stars.

GOAL BY GALLAGHER—Vince Gallagher (6), reserve Greyhound, goes high in the air for one of six field goals he scored in the Hopkins game last Friday night.

Hounds Beat Mounts, 73-69, After Two Overtime Periods

Mounts applied the freeze, to lose the ball for walking. Zedalis drove off the pivot to bring Loyola within two points of a tie, and with twenty seconds of play remaining, Jim Lacy was fouled, and took the ball out of bounds. At the four second mark, Wish Galvin passed the ball to Lacy, who took a left-handed backshot. The whistle blew just as the ball had breezed through the cords to send the game into another overtime session.

Lacy took over in this period, tallying three quick points to push Loyola ahead for the first time since the regular game. The Hounds applied the freeze for the remaining time to take the tilt, 73-69.

individual victory in the meet.

Although he failed to win the title in the 136 pound class, co-captain Jack Enoch showed his usual fight and determination against Hopkins' Schaeffer. Enoch placed second in this division. The scrappy wrestler pinned Hutchinson of Gallaudet during the afternoon session, then lost a tough match to the Blue Jays' grappler.

Bower Places Second

Co-captain Mus Bower in the 155-pound class placed second, decisioned by Lang of Hopkins. Bob Weiss, operating in the 121-pound group, placed third in overall action. His win came as a result of a 2-0 decision over Lawrence of Towson.

Other matmen who helped Loyola make a fine showing were Hector DiNardo in the 128 pound class and George Stevens at 165 pounds.

Phil Goodman, the team's coach, not only is well pleased with Loyola's showing in the tournament, but anticipates a fruitful season next year, due to the scheduled return of most of the Hound wrestlers.

Lacy, Zedalis On All-Star 5

Jim Lacy and Mike Zedalis, Loyola's two high-scoring forwards were officially named to the all-star Mason-Dixon Conference tournament team early this week.

Loyola, champion of the regular league schedule and winner of the three-night tourney last week-end, was the only school to place more than one man on the mythical five. It was the second straight year that the Hounds had placed a pair on the team, Lacy and Freddy Olinger having been named in 1947.

Other players in the conference selected were Pete Clark, star of Mt. St. Mary's who scored 24 points in his team's only appearance in the tourney on Thursday night; Leroy Ishman, outstanding shot and play-maker for American U., which reached the finals before bowing to Loyola on Saturday; and George Mitchell, Hopkins' giant pivotman, whose big night was versus Loyola on Friday, when he scored 22 points.

Spring Sports Preview

Lettermen Raise Greyhound Hopes For Extensive Campaigns Ahead

With the conclusion of winter sports activities, Loyola athletic enthusiasts now focus their attention on the coming spring season. The Greyhounds will be represented by the baseball, tennis, golf, track and lacrosse teams in one of the most extensive schedules carded by Loyola.

Three of the teams, the baseball, tennis and golf outfits, won their respective Mason-Dixon championships last season, and with a maximum of performers due to return to each club, the outlook holds a bright hue for all concerned.

Same Coaches To Be Back

Track and lacrosse, though not as successful as the others, manifested improvement and are girded for better showings this campaign.

The same coaches who guided the fortunes of the squads in 1947 will be at the helm again. Lefty Reitz will call the signals for the baseballers, while Vince Colimore will handle the tennis club. Golf duties belong to the Rev. William Herlihy, S. J. Bill McElroy will coach the tracksters and Bish Baker has charge of the lacrosse boys.

Veterans Return

A quick glance at the rosters of the various aggregations is proof enough that Loyola will be represented by generally veteran teams.

Spring Schedule

In the next issue of THE GREYHOUND, complete schedules of the spring sports in which Loyola will participate will be listed.

Baseball will attract such experienced men as Ben Spurrier, Tom Lind, Jack Whalen, Jim Carmody, Tom Ostendorf, Jack Horrigan, Dick Farace, Bill Carroll, Johnny Amer, Jim Stephens and others.

Tennis may well have another banner year, what with Frank Scrivener, Jim Lacy, Jerry Laroque, Gene Nolan, Hank Linz and Dick Tompkins due to return.

Golf Men Back

Golf will take the time of Nemo Haslbeck, Len Saltysiak, Tom Gisriel and Bill Davis from the '46 squad.

A bevy of trackmen who participated last year are eligible for more competition. George Brown is expected to be the sparkplug of the cinderpathers, but several outstanding runners will be back also.

Lacrosse Improvement Due

Lacrosse, if the last few games of last year can be taken as criterion, is due for definite improvement. The final tests of the season saw the Hounds beating Lehigh and losing a heartbreaker in overtime to Virginia.

With these five squads striving for additional laurels, Loyola again hopes for a top sports year. Last year, the Evergreen boys won four M-D titles among all sports. That's the mark they hope to repeat, if not surpass.

The Line-Up

Paul Feeley Proves Valuable Substitute

(This is another in a series of articles on outstanding Loyola athletes.)

by Mickey Parr

Bzzzz! The sound of the buzzer halts proceedings and a substitute for Loyola ambles onto the floor. Appearances are deceiving, for at first glance you might decide that this fellow appears too slow and awkward to be in there. A few minutes of play, however, and that idea is changed as Paul Feeley, one of Loyola's top basketball replacements, goes to work.

He may be up high grabbing a rebound, feeding a fast cutting teammate, or posting two points of his own with a neat left-handed hook shot; but in either role Feeley is sure to be putting plenty into the action, and getting a lot out of it for the Greyhounds.

For the past three seasons, and one before the war (1942-43), this rangy courtman has been capably filling in when one of the starters is pulled out of a contest. In just such roles as this, Paul was able to contribute 139 points to the coffer last year and rank sixth among individual scorers on the team.

During the latter part of the recently completed season, however, the Greyhound hoop veteran came into his own as a starter. Center Tom Gisriel incurred a nasty shoulder injury in the Mt. St. Mary's game of February 12, and was doomed for a spell on the sidelines.

Though he had always been a forward, Feeley immediately stepped into the center spot and performed creditably. This regime brought forth one of his big Loyola nights as he poured 15 points through the rim in the return test with Mt. St. Mary's. His best one game scoring outburst came against Catholic U. during the 1945-46 campaign, when he ruffled the cords for 18 tallies.

Paul's chief forte on the hardwood lies in his ability to get above the crowd, latch onto a rebound, and clear a path around himself as he returns to earth.

Hey Goodlookin' . . . Spring will soon be bustin' out all over . . . and so must you . . . we've got those always preferred white shirts, those wonderful maroon, green or black knit ties and those Argyle socks that show to best advantage in a pair of loafers (or any other way you have of putting your best feet forward) . . . all can be found in the Men's Shop on the first floor . . . right at the Howard Street entrance.

At Loyola High School, he didn't have the comparative height he now possesses; nevertheless, he was a member of the varsity court team for two years.

During his two years in the Army, Feeley added 30 pounds and an inch and a half to his frame, which brought him to his present stature of 6'1" and 180 pounds. In other words, 'he grew up.'

Paul, who is 22 years old, will graduate this year, which places a problem right in Coach Lefty Reitz's lap. Next season he'll be looking for another 'Feeley' when he motions one of his starters out of the game.

New Archbishop Installed Before Array of Notables

THE MOST REVEREND FRANCIS P. KEOUGH, flanked by Msgr. Stanislaus A. Wachowiak and Msgr. William A. Toolen, Deacons of Honor, stands before his throne during installation ceremonies.

The installation of the Most Reverend Francis P. Keough as the eleventh Archbishop of Baltimore, according to reports in the various local papers, was the occasion of the greatest assembly of prelates, priests and representatives of religious orders at the Cathedral since the death of Cardinal Gibbons. Which meant that it was the greatest ecclesiastical gathering Baltimoreans of our age have ever seen.

Since the Baltimore papers have already covered every angle of the ceremonies, THE GREYHOUND—which had a reporter and two photographers present—is presenting only highlights of the whole affair.

For instance, there were 71 photographers there, the largest number ever to cover an event in Baltimore. They represented local papers, Providence newspapers, wire services and television cameramen. Thirty-five of them knelt at the communion rail to photograph the Archbishop as he received his crozier.

There were six archbishops present, among them Archbishop O'Boyle of Washington, who only recently was himself installed as the first Archbishop of Washington. Thirty-eight bishops were present in the sanctuary for the ceremonies as well as seven archbishops. The youngest of the bishops, incidentally, is only 35 years old.

There were also approximately 1,000 priests, two governors, two mayors, three senators, six congressmen and fifteen judges at the ceremonies.

Glee Club Concert Set For April 8th

Mr. Felice Iula announced that the Glee Club would give its Spring Concert on Thursday, April 8 at the Alcazar. Rehearsals have been in progress for the last seven weeks.

Albert Fitzgerald and Niles Fields will be the soloists. The Glee Club will be accompanied by William Yannuzzi who will also play several solo selections.

An extensive publicity campaign will be conducted in order to procure as large an attendance of the student body as possible. There will be a slight admission charge.

Six On WCBM Radio Forum

Six members of the Loyola College student body engaged in a round table discussion on Brotherhood on a program broadcast by radio station WCBM last Wednesday, March 10, from 6:00 to 6:15 p. m.

Edward Clarke acted as the Moderator of the discussion. Those who took part in the program were Alan Harris, Daniel Shehan, William Antol, Andrew Hofer and Edward North.

The program was sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. The discussion centered around the full interpretation of Brotherhood and its practice throughout the entire year, and in all levels of living.

The program marked the fourth time in the last two years that Loyola College students appeared on such a program.

Poll Suggestions Adopted; Cafe Service Improves

A check on improvements made in the Loyola Cafeteria since last semester's GREYHOUND Poll on the subject revealed that the majority of the suggestions have been adopted.

The most general complaint was against the state of the silverware. Mr. Everett Gorsuch, manager of the cafeteria for the Slater System, said that a large portion of the silverware has already been replaced and that within the next month all of it will be new.

Rush Hour Service

Service during rush hours has been speeded up somewhat, but Mr. Gorsuch explained that additional help would be required to do anything further, which would increase prices in turn.

The Coca-Cola situation has been improved, and the increased cost of milk has been somewhat alleviated by the large economy size containers now sold. It is against Health Department regulations to sell milk in glasses without special permits, he added.

Greater Variety

A greater variety in the menu has been attempted, but the majority of the students prefer hot sandwiches. An increase in variety means increased waste and prices, Mr. Gorsuch said, unless more students buy the special dishes.

As to the complaints about the delay in clearing the tables between periods, Mr. Gorsuch said that eight containers had been placed in the cafeteria for waste paper, but so far the students have not used them.

Custer Takes Marelyn Lead

Marelyn! the three-act satirical revue written by students of the college, is scheduled for production April 26, 27 and 28, at the Cadoa, according to Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., Moderator of The Mask and Rapper Dramatic Society.

Casting, while still tentative in most cases, has been completed, student director George Herman and Donald Swartz announced last week. The lead role, that of "Yardley," has been given to Bob Custer. "Yardley," based on the famous cartoonist of the Sunday Sun, acts as narrator in the musical comedy. Dick Coleman and Spence Davidson will handle other lead roles.

The show includes an Ocean City scene, complete with the Tiller Chorus; the purchasing of Maryland from the Piscataways; the Civil War; The Transit Company; Laurel; and the "Horse Set." All of these scenes are done in the satirical style.

The show includes sixteen songs, which are now being arranged professionally. Mr. Felice Iula will handle the musical direction for the show.

William Heffner has been named Publicity Director of the show and he has planned an elaborate campaign which will begin within the next two weeks.
